

Ok, Google has finally released Google Pages (for most businesses) and I've been building the Google+ Page for this web site and - yes! I'd like you to include it in your Circles!

Right now, I'm ~~fighting~~ exploring all new features trying to sort out what's different from (now) well-known Facebook Pages.

Content support is quite limited, right now and - as usual - all posts/conversations must be typed in, there's still no RSS support or any other automatic-content loading system.

More on this later...
