

“9-11” eleven years after: what’s today news, press and media coverage? [infographic]

Today, I woke up with a strange feeling.

To me 9/11 means several things and, as most people in the world, I remember where I was in that day and what I was doing - something personal and painful.

Then the world changed.

This morning I asked myself: “What is today media coverage of the 9/11 event, after 11 years?”

This graphics is what I came up with, assembling the home pages from New York Times, USA Today, LA Times, Wall Street Journal and the Washington Post - maybe the most viewed media websites in the USA and the world.

New York Times
(three articles)

WSJ
(one article)

Washington Post
(one article)

LA Times
(one article)

USA Today
(one article)

“9-11” coverage and placement in 2012 on the five most popular news & press websites home pages

www.stefanopaganini.com - 9-11-2012

[Disclaimer: I don’t mean any kind of judgement at all, just report how much is today coverage on the 9/11 event in 2012.]