

April Fools' Day this year is bringing several new ideas for pranksters!

Google has created a video advertising an augmented reality Pokémon game loosely tied into Google Maps.

In Google's vision, players would hold their smartphones out in front of them and see Nintendo's cartoon creatures appear on screen before them, often ready to do battle.

□