

Swiss illustrator turns Star Wars Episode IV into a very loooooong infographic

"The Force is strong with this one [infographic]"

Swiss illustrator Martin Panchaud has just gone some parsecs beyond common Star Wars fanaticism (even beyond mine...).

He worked on a single infographic that covers all of the 1977 first Star Wars Episode IV ("A new hope") movie.

The infographic show all the movie from a single perspective (from above), capturing all details of all characters.

The single image is something that will put your browser to the test: it's 1024 wide by 465152 pixel!

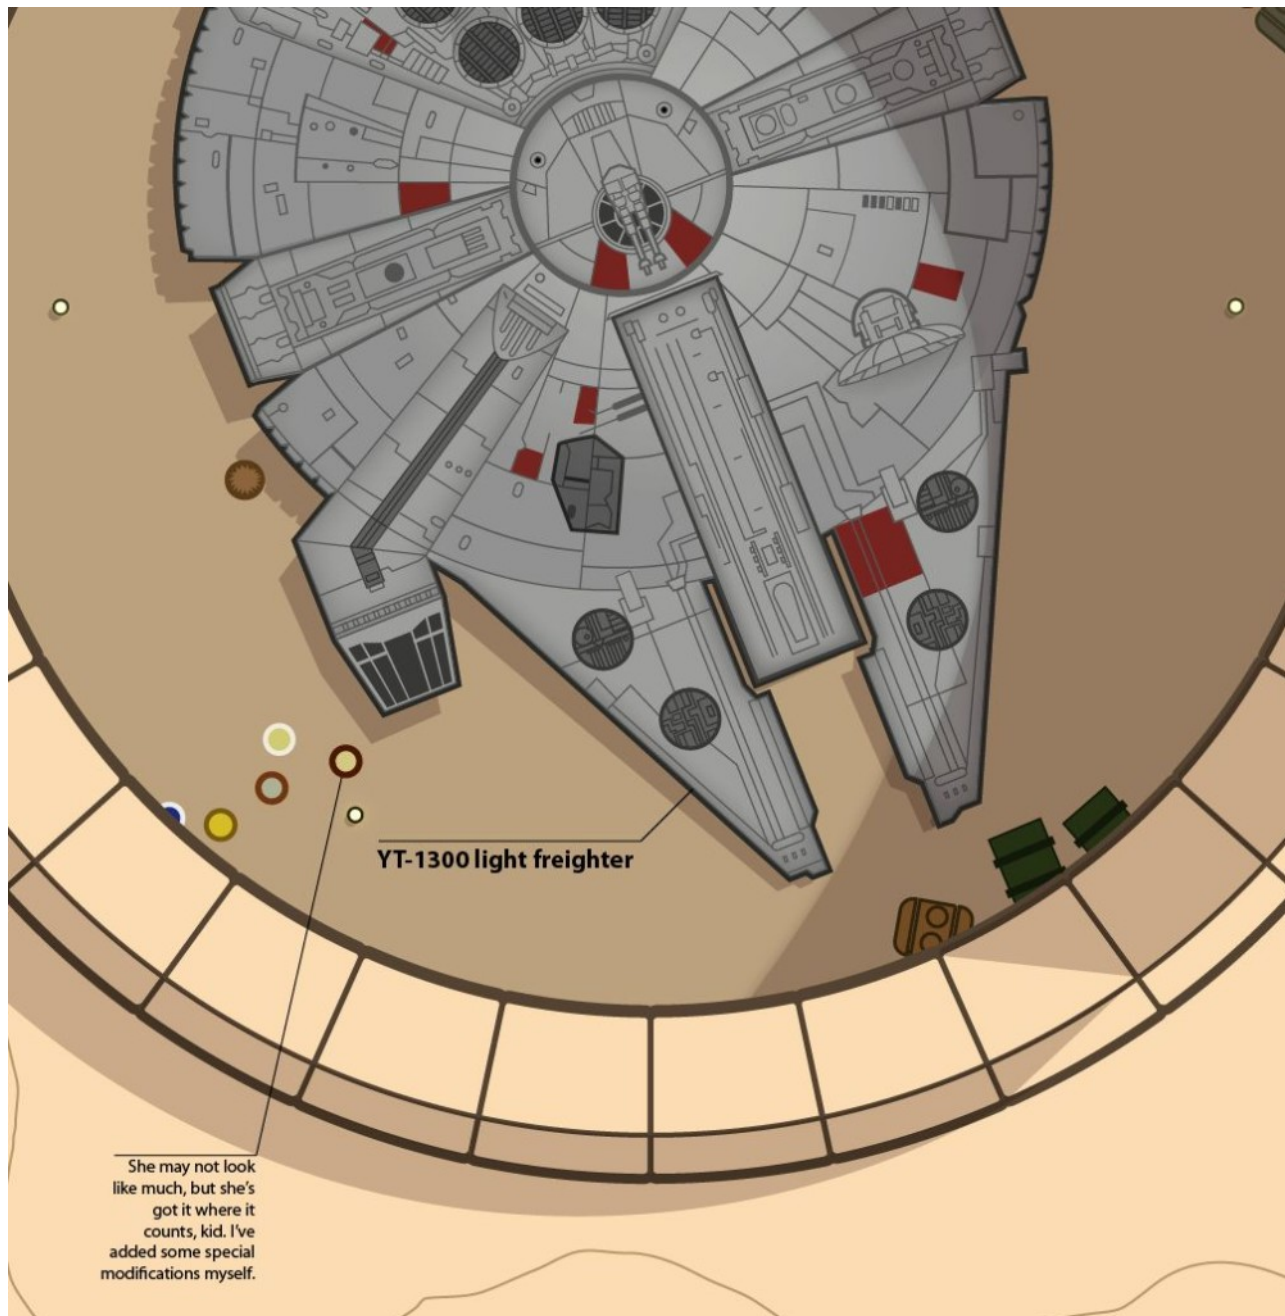

If you turn the 1024 pixels to a 27 cm width (around 10 inches) the resulting height gets to a staggering 123 meters (4845 inches)!

Swiss illustrator turns Star Wars Episode IV into a very looooong infographic

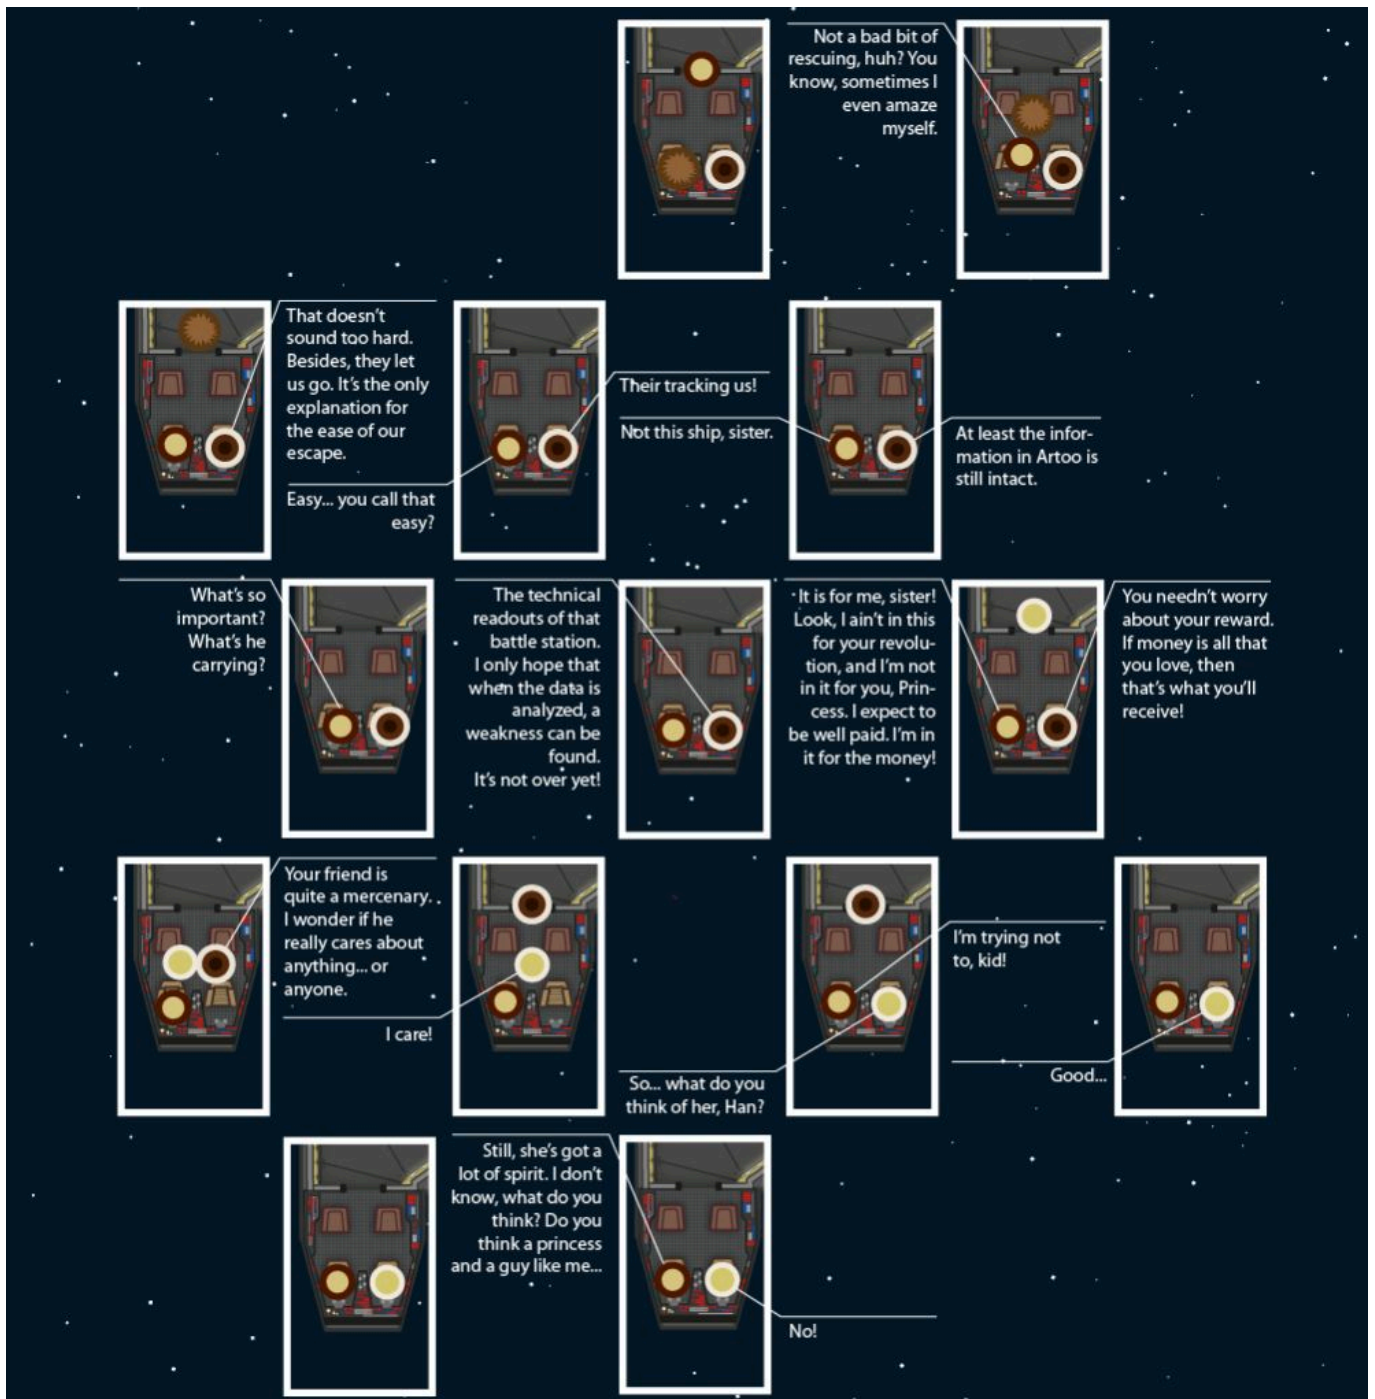

I don't know if Monsieur Panchaud is a Jedi Master but he's an Illustrator Master for sure!
Click here to see all the infographic in his loooong glory.

Swiss illustrator turns Star Wars Episode IV into a very looooong infographic

Swiss illustrator turns Star Wars Episode IV into a very loooooong infographic

Swiss illustrator turns Star Wars Episode IV into a very loooooong infographic

