Data back-up as a nightmare?
Ok, just for Halloween let's take a look at these creepy magazine ads for a couple of (ancient) backup software back from the very early 80s: Ecosoft's Archivist for CP/M-based computers and Locksmith 5.0 for Apple II systems.
Provided that, back then, you had to back up floppies on… floppies… (hard disk were an expensive options, if available, for most systems) so it was a painful process anyway!
